Prince de Sagan Finally Leads Mme. Anna Gould to the Altar.

CROWD QUICKLY GATHERED

SNAP SHOTS TAKEN DURING THE CEREMONY.

London, July 7.—Madame Anna Gould and Prince Helié de Sagan were married at a registry office in Henrietta street off Covent Garden today. A subsequent ceremony was conducted at the French Protestant church on Soho square.

There was absolutely no secrecy about the wedding. Prince Helié last night announced to representatives of the American and French newspapers that all difficulties having been overcome, the marriage ceremony would be held immediately upon the opening of the registry office in Henrietta street this morning. Notwithstanding this, the morning and Madame Gould made a determined effort to escape the crowd. They had a large motor car waiting at the hotel. When the hour for them to leave arrived, however, the couple, accompanied by three friends, left the hotel by a rear entrance and, entering cabs, drove to the back entrance of the registry office.

The civil ceremony was simple. Outside of Prince Helié, Madame Gould, the witnesses and the official, no one was present.

Crowd on the Outside.

A great crowd, consisting largely of porters from the Covent Garden market and employees of the publishing houses in the vicinity, assembled in the

EIGHT SPEEDILY CURED
BY CUTICURA REMEDIES

"The Cuticura Remedies cured eight of our family (my husband, six children and myself) of a terrible eczema. We had it so bad that the children couldn't sleep at night for scratching themselves. They were broken out thick and crusted all over. Then it would itch and burn and big sores came on their hips and legs. They would cry with them and I myself suffered terribly with the itching and burning. We were this way for two years. It would get worse in the winter. I used all the home remedies that I could hear of without any relief and then I went to a physician and got medicine three different times but it did not do us any good. I did not know what to do so I went to a friend and asked her what it was she used for her children, and she told me it was the Cuticura Remedies. I sent at once for the Cuticura Remedies, consisting of Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Resolvent Pills. I also got one more box of Cuticura Ointment and two cakes of Cuticura Soap. They relieved us at once and in a short time we were cured. I am truly glad of finding a cure for eczema, and I shall recommend the Cuticura Remedies highly to every one so afflicted. Mrs. Roy B. Boice, Rockcastle P. O., Jackson Co., W. Va., Mar. 3, 1908."

PERSPIRING POPULACE KNOWS 'TIS HOT DESPITE U. S. PAMPERED THERMOMETER

The official thermometer on top of the Dooly building, high up in the air, with plenty of circulation and exerting every advantage to make it cool, showed a temperature in the maximum of only 88 degrees yesterday. That was at the last reading, which was at 6 o'clock.

Street thermometers told a different story. The street car company's instrument at the corner of Main and Second South showed at 4:50 a record of 102 degrees, and The Herald's thermometer on Main street showed 99 degrees. An indoor thermometer, shaded on all sides and receiving the current produced by an immense revolving fan showed 89 degrees at 5 o'clock.

"This official heat business," said a man who had sprung a leak in every pore, "doesn't make any bit with me. They take it away up in the air where nobody lives and nobody is. Why don't the government put an official instrument on the street where people live and where people are and where people suffer. We don't care a Death Valley sandstone about how hot it is a hundred feet above the Dooly block. What we want to know is how hot it is here. We read the official figures every day and we read the figures of the living in a refrigerator car, but when we see the street thermometers we change our minds and know it's hot enough for anybody."

"They can say what they want to about street level thermometers, but since there's been a heat wave, one person in five where people can see them, I am looking in the official degree of heat. The government would better wake up if it is to compete with us fellows who live on the level."

The ever-present breeze relieved the situation yesterday, as it always does, but it street outside. Prince Helié produced a copy of the notice filed with the registrar, establishing his two weeks' residence in the district, and the registrar granted his license.

Madame Gould and the prince signed the register, described themselves as husband and wife, and the banns published in Paris.

Armed with the registrar's certificate, the party, again leaving the building by the back door, drove in cabs to the French Protestant church, hidden away in a corner of Soho square.

Stopped at Catholic Church.

The cab men misunderstood their instructions and stopped in front of St. Patrick's Roman Catholic church, also facing Soho square, and the entire party had alighted before the mistake was discovered. New directions were then given and the cabs drove over to the French Protestant church. The entrance to this church was blocked by trucks, and Madame Gould and the prince had to make their way through a maze of traffic.

The party passed into the church almost unnoticed. They were followed by only half a dozen reporters and a few poorly dressed parishioners. They were escorted to the vestry, and the pastor, the Rev. Gremont, carefully read the document brought from the registry office. Having satisfied himself of its correctness, he escorted the couple to the altar, while Madame Ranelle, a daughter of the associate pastor of the church, played the hymn "Abide With Me" on the organ.

Snap Shots During Ceremony.

The ceremony was quite in keeping with the simple character of the church, but it was rather long. While it was proceeding several photographers who had come in with the party took snap shots of the couple as they stood at the altar.

Madame Gould and Prince Helié both answered the usual questions in a firm voice, but the bride turned nervously to the small congregation when the quietness of the church was disturbed by the clicking of cameras.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the pastor, as is the custom, presented Prince Helié with a Bible and then congratulated them. After this he led the way back to the vestry, where the church register was signed. The witnesses were Baron de Montellian and C. Bonchavain. The only other person with the party was Prince Helié's private secretary.

Madame Gould wore a handsome costume of cream colored silk richly embroidered and a straw hat to match, which was trimmed with osprey feathers.

Big Crowd Gathered.

The news that the Prince de Sagan and Madame Gould had been married in the Soho square church got about rapidly, and by the time the party were ready to leave the building a big assemblage had gathered in the street in front.

After a few introductions to members of the pastor's family Prince Helié de Sagan and his wife, followed by the witnesses and the prince's secretary, made their way to the carriages. The crowd outside promptly stood aside to let them pass through.

Upon arriving at the hotel the prince and his wife sat down to a wedding breakfast with a few friends.

was not nevertheless, although not hot to a killing degree.

In other parts of the country there was relief from the heat brought by thunderstorms and rainfall. There was precipitation in Texas, Missouri, Arkansas, Nebraska, Minnesota, the Ohio valley, the lake region, Tennessee and the Gulf states. The rainfall reported at St. Louis is nearly an inch and a half, and at Abilene, Tex., more than an inch fell.

In the big cities of the east it was still hot. At Washington it was 94 degrees. New York, Chicago, Scranton and Kansas City showed 92 degrees. It was 88 at Montgomery, 90 at Little Rock. On the west coast it showed 78 at Los Angeles, 82 at San Francisco, 86 at Portland and 82 at Roseburg. Winnemucca showed 88, Pocatello 82, Boise 91, Lander 80, Helena 78, Miles City 78, Yuma, Phoenix and El Paso are holding their own. At the second named place it was 108, at the second 104, and the third 88.

There is a suspicion abroad that the publicity bureau has fixed the weather man in Denver. The report from the convention is that it was only 60 degrees hot. No well regulated Democratic convention can do a good job at a temperature like that.

The prediction for today is that it will be fair. The record of yesterday reads:

Temperature at 8 p. m., 88 degrees; maximum temperature, 88 degrees; minimum temperature, 64 degrees; mean temperature, 76 degrees, which is 1 degree above normal. There is no excess or deficiency of temperature since the first of the month. Accumulated deficiency of temperature since Jan. 1, 2.88 degrees. Total precipitation, .13 inch. Total precipitation since the first of the month, trace, which is .13 inch below the normal; accumulated excess since Jan. 1, 2.11 inches. Relative humidity, 19 per cent.

ORGANIZE FOR BOND ISSUE

At Meeting in Mayor's Office Plans for Coming Election Are Discussed.

Mayor John S. Bransford, a number of city officials and some of the persuaders met in the mayor's office yesterday morning to discuss the campaign which is to be conducted for the bond ordinance.

It was decided to send out a considerable mass of literature setting forth the need of voting bonds, and telling how the money is to be spent. An organization of workers will be perfected in each ward and every effort made to get out the voters favorable to the passage of the bond question.

J. B. Moreton, city recorder, announced that he was preparing the machines to be used and that he would select polling places as soon as the council will designate how many are to be used in each ward.

It was announced yesterday that the citizens of the north bench will hold a mass meeting in the Twentieth ward amusement hall on Friday evening to enter a formal protest against the passage of the bond issue.

BADGER CLUB TO ENTERTAIN

Former Residents of Wisconsin Expect to Show Visiting Easterners Jolly Good Time.

There will be a meeting of the Badger club Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in the office of the registrar of the United States land office, E. D. R. Thompson, in the federal building. It will be the occasion for the election of officers for the ensuing year.

Among other matters of importance to be considered will be that of making arrangements for an outing. The club is now in communication with the Wisconsin Democratic delegation in Denver, and the hope is that a large number of the delegates and their friends can be induced to come to Salt Lake for a brief visit. It is planned to show the visitors a good time.

Assurance has been received that Governor George W. Peck will visit Salt Lake, and that he will bring a number of his "Bad Boys" with him as he can. The famous humorist is certain of an appropriate welcome.

At the meeting Thursday night arrangements will be made for all the things that are incidental to an appropriate reception by Badgers to other Badgers.

REAL HASTY CONDITIONS

Officers Find Soldiers Living in Same Room With Girls of Tender Years.

Frank White and Milton Bayless, soldiers from Fort Douglas, were arrested yesterday, charged with assaulting young girls. The arrests were made after an investigation into the conditions existing in the home of Mrs. Alice Johnson, 164 North Third West street.

The two soldiers were found living at the home with Florence Johnson, aged 19 years, and Nellie Johnson, aged 15 years. Maggie Dunlap, aged 15 years, also is said to have been living there.

When Deputy Sheriffs Sharp and Sperry went to the place late Monday night, they were looking for the Dunlap girl, who is said to have stolen $50 from her employer, H. Bowen, who lives opposite Vandamere. They found her and while taking her to the jail she said that the Johnson family had induced her to take the money and had spent most of it. She also told of the soldiers living there.

Her story was verified at once by the deputies, who say that the mother and six other young girls were sleeping on the floor in the same room with the young girls and the soldiers.

The house was devoid of furniture, and nothing at all could be found. The small children were nearly naked and a general air of squalor pervaded the place. The father of the children has been dead for several years.

Florence Johnson, the oldest girl, some time ago married one Alma Hawcroft, and is the mother of a babe which is being cared for by Hawcroft's mother in North Salt Lake. Hawcroft is said to have separated from his child wife some months ago. Since then she has been married to a man named, although she has never had a divorce.

The parents of the Dunlap girl live near the corner of Eighth West and Third North streets.

Complaints were filed against the two soldiers and the oldest girl yesterday by the county attorney and Nellie Johnson was sent to the state industrial school. Maggie Dunlap will be sent to that institution today, after a hearing in the juvenile court. Her mother and the rest of her children will be taken care of by the county and the youngest will be placed in the State reformatory.

TEN YEARS FOR FEINBURG

Diamond Thief Is Sent Up for Long Term by Judge Armstrong—
Two Others Sentenced.

A. Feinburg was sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary yesterday by Judge George G. Armstrong of the district court. Feinburg pleaded guilty to stealing diamonds to the value of $1,330 from the New York loan office last January. From that time until two weeks ago, when he was captured at El Paso, Tex., his whereabouts had been unknown.

Jack Wright, charged with entering the caboose of a Rio Grande Western freight train on July 3, pleaded guilty to burglary in the second degree and was given eighteen months.

Harry Wilson, accused of robbing a bath room at Saltair on July 1, also pleaded guilty and was given a year.

Bonds in the case of Gust Doros and Gust Fontas, charged with robbery, were fixed at $1,000 each.

DISMISSAL IS DENIED.

Second Day of Hearing in Watson
Divorce Case.

The second day in the hearing of the divorce suit brought by W. J. Watson against Mary Corcoran Watson revealed nothing of a sensational nature. After the plaintiff's case had been concluded the attorney for Mrs. Watson moved a dismissal, but this was denied by Judge Morse, and Mrs. Watson took the stand and he took the oath.

In the afternoon, she denied all the charges of unfaithfulness made against her by her husband and denied entertaining Samuel Jerrid at her house late at night. She will take the stand again this morning and the case promises to continue all this week.

Robert H. McEwan, Harriet Brown, Mary Watson, Dr. Odell, Ella Latimer, Frank Watson and W. A. Hunter testified during the day for the plaintiff.

Hunter, the last witness, said that he had purchased beer for Mrs. Watson at the Salt Palace.

BRINGS TEST SUIT.

Attorney General Institutes Action Against Irrigation Company.

Attorney General Breeden left yesterday for Sevier county, where he will file in the district court a complaint against the Rocky Ford Irrigation company, charging it with maintaining a nuisance, or action of similar character. The attorney general acts upon the suggestion of the state board of irrigation, which has determined that the waters flowing ing through some of the canals and ditches of the company are contaminating and bear diphtheria, typhoid and other disease germs. The company says that its waters carry no such menace to the public health. In order to settle the matter, the attorney general decided to let the courts pass on the merits or demerits of the controversy.
